

WITH THE OIL MEN

J. E. Hilt, well known to the oil fraternity, left yesterday for a business trip to Shreveport.

Preston A. Shinn, district judge of Osage and Washington counties, is a week end visitor.

W. A. Myers of the Commonwealth Petroleum company of Chicago, who has been in the city for the past several days has left for his home.

J. H. Pierce of the Duplex Oil company is here from Louisville, Ky., looking over the fields. He is very much impressed with the wonder city.

A. T. Locke, with the Producers and Refiners corporation, is leaving tonight for Chicago and will remain until after the convention of the independent oil men which begins October 21.

P. H. Sweet and wife are back from a visit with J. E. Crook of St. Clair, Mich., and say that Mr. Crook is feeling fine and able to get out and only waiting for the new season at Mount Clemens. This will be good news to Mr. Crook's many friends here.

George W. Giffert, well known to the oil fraternity and one of the best men in the country, is spending the week end with his family. Mr. Giffert is now with the Phillips Petroleum company with headquarters at Oklahoma.

A. W. Wyatt, sales manager for the McEwen Manufacturing company, was in Tulsa and Oklahoma Friday and had the time of his life getting home through the storm. Mr. Wyatt is more than pleased with the prospects for business in the Tulsa field and is sure that the new store at Hogg is going to be a good investment.

Ben Rice, of the firm of Rice and

Lyons, who has offices in New York, is here for a few days and has some mighty original ideas in regard to the activities of foreigners who are mostly agitating bores here and saying that if the government would intern a lot of them it would save a lot of trouble and along with them a few of the labor agitators like Foster, who has no appreciation of the good the United States has done and is doing the people.

Edward D. Parker, who is western manager for the Osage Oil company, which is the exporting and the Ohio Cities, is an expert in the line and was one of the high officials in the petroleum division during the war. He says that the government paid 47 cents for Mexican crude which is lower than most people here had supposed. It has always been claimed that the Mexican oil producers, most of whom are connected with American interests, had profited by the war, but Mr. Parker was in a position to know the exact facts, which of course will put an end to this kind of talk.

O. B. Howard, who is here from California, is of the opinion that oil is going to advance before the winter is over and this on account of the growing demand and the falling of some of the newer points. Mr. Howard has some mighty fine acreage in the vicinity of the big Union Oil company well in California and will likely start drilling in the near future. He says there are three or four tests going down that are within two hundred feet of the surface and therefore he is in a position to wait to see what may develop. The new field is out on the road to the holding of the Petroleum company owned by Tulsa people and many of them have driven by the location while visiting the beet orange grove in California. The chances are that some of these drillers are going to get fed up on oranges.

In the Oil Fields

Beggs a Great Town

Elsewhere will be found a full page advertisement which sets forth the greatness of Beggs, which is doubtless one of the best towns in the world of its size and is, moreover, bound to grow as oil is being discovered in all directions.

A similar advertisement was printed in The World in March and some of the leading people of Beggs are kind enough to say that the ad brought a great many people to that town immediately after it was printed.

It is one of the ways that a town can get publicity so that he who runs may read and the late Adolph Reich of Independence, Kan., once told the writer that this sort of an ad helped his town more than anything that had ever been done in the way of publicity, and Mr. Reich ought to know, as he was the leading banker and most public spirited man for many years. He is dead now but his memory is still revered.

Beggs is a town that one can talk about with good grace. There are many others, and some of them have advertised in the same way, but their glories have been told often things in poor fashion and it is more than likely that these ads have done more harm than good. They were done by imitators who had no interest except to get the money.

As will be seen by reference to the Beggs advertisement, the McEwen Manufacturing company has opened a supply store there in charge of Harold Coyle, who was born and reared in the oil country and when only 5 years old was on the staff of the Daily Reporter at Independence as a carrier. He made his first business efforts on a paper that was then the leading oil paper of the mid-continent field. It is worthy of remark that every one of these boys that were connected with that paper have made good and Harold is one of the best of them.

That oil has done wonders for Beggs goes without saying. The town of Tulsa is proud of it and is only too glad to extend the genuine Tulsa welcome to men like the Thompson brothers, who own thousands of acres in the best part of the Hogg field.

They are here now and have extended their field of operations by opening an office here as at Hogg and are doing a great work in building up the cattle industry with which they are so familiar. There are others who should be mentioned. The National Independent Leasing of the First National bank of Beggs, and his associate, Mr. Moore, both of whom own much of which has already been drilled. They are also of the kind that make a town a good place to live in and never miss an opportunity to support any worthy enterprise that has for its motive the upbuilding of their town.

Grant C. Stebbins Entertains

Gladye Belle Oil company, of Tulsa, Friday night entertained a large number of guests at a banquet at the Tulsa hotel. In addition to the guests from Tulsa, there were present business men from a half dozen states and from Canada, who came here to look over the properties of this company with a view of investing in its capital stock, a new issue of which is now being put upon the market. Among those present from Tulsa were: Colonel C. H. Diggle, secretary of the chamber of commerce, C. H. Steger, vice-president of the Producers State bank of Tulsa, and J. E. Barton, vice-president of the Exchange National bank of Tulsa. The following were the out-of-town guests: Thos. H. Owen, Fred A. Platt, Douglas Puyah, A. B. Walton, H. T. Woods, Bert Jones, A. J. Nabe, H. Polley, Jules G. Hoffman, W. Julius Neudorfer, C. M. Corbett, Victor L. Abbey, E. E. Hyland, Ralph Conzelmann, Fred Woodford, F. D. Brown, R. W. Stinson, M. C. Stringer, Ralph B. Morgan, Walter E. Butler, Chas. H. McLeod, J. M. Miller and Walter Everl, all of Detroit, Mich.; C. S. Wright, Grand Rapids, Mich.; W. G. Stewart, Windsor, Ont.; Charles H. Traub, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Jack Fish, Saginaw, Mich.; F. Irving Kipper, Milwaukee, Wis.; Leonard Dinschup, Philadelphia, Pa.; L. M. Habel, Buffalo, N. Y.; and R. B. Hall, Erie, Pa.

F. A. Peck, attorney for the Gladye Belle Oil company, acted as toastmaster. The guests enjoyed the splendid supper that was served and the speeches that were made afterward. There was a great deal

Late News From Hewitt

(By EASLEY)

ARDMORE, Oct. 11.—Wirt Franklin on the Thompson farm in section 21-46-2w, has reached the top of an oil sand and is about down to make back the boiler and to install tanks. This well is 660 feet west of the Carter Oil company on the Noble farm, and is the farthest north-west well in the field. While the sand was only touched, reports from there stated that several flows were made. Mr. Franklin, the owner of the well, declined to give out the depth of the top of the sand, but the best information obtainable is that the sand was entered at about 1,620 feet. In this connection, it might also be said that the wire line has been run in the Carter well and it proves to be 1,440 feet instead of 1,650 as was reported when the sand was first reached. The Franklin well extended the field only a short distance, but the lower the sand territory look mighty good, and some big deals were closed yesterday and today and other wells will be drilled in that portion of the field at once.

Geoply Oil company will offset the Franklin well on the south, on the U. F. Ward farm, and the Carter Oil company will offset it on the east on the Noble farm, and the Wagoner Oil company will offset the Carter well on the south and the east. These wells, coupled with the Humble-McCoy well, will make 21-46-2w one of the busiest spots of the new field.

Carter Oil company has made a location on the Bud Mitchell farm on the south line of 23-46-2w, which is across the east of the Wagoner & Daube well on the last farm. The location is 810 feet east of the west line of the section and 200 feet north of the south line.

Reports from the Carter Oil company's well on the Noble farm, 21-46-2w in the Hewitt district, state that it is drilling itself in and the production is increasing. It gives promise of being a sensational producer when it is completed.

The sand was reached at 1,650 feet and has been penetrated only one foot. The tankage facilities must be made before the well will be put to producing regularly.

The Joka-Neustadt well in 12-36-7 in the Ada district, has reached a depth of 1,800 feet.

Invader Invades New Homer, La., Field

A Muskogee company, the Invader Oil & Refining Co. is "setting out" in the new Homer, La., field. Several weeks ago this company secured over a thousand acres of leases and recent completions have proven up part of this acreage.

The company has already started its first well with its own rotary tools.

Ed Rosa, formerly with the Producers and Refiners corporation, is in charge of the company's Louisiana operations.

"The Helrazer"

The name is enough to bring a blush of shame to an ordinary dresser or tool dresser, but it is a new thing and means that iron can be taken from a well by the use of a magnet and thus save a lot of time and trouble. It may be strong enough to lift bits and stems out of the hole and it is a cinch that there will be a big crowd to see it tried. It is being advertised by the Oklahoma Tool and Supply company.

Invader Changes

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Invader Oil &

Their loading rack at Walter will hold 80 cases at one time. While under the substitutions are put in their pipe line will handle around 4,500 barrels and that capacity will immediately be doubled when they are completed.

Their line to Deval has also been completed, but due to the heavy congestion and the bad weather at Deval, shipments have been somewhat curtailed.

Several of their large storage tanks have been completed both at Deval and Walter, while several others will be completed shortly.
